Der Kampf um Grönland – Teil 7

Armer Präsident ...

Präsident Donald Trump, den ich während seiner ersten Amtszeit und zu Beginn seiner zweiten Amtszeit höher wertschätzte als alle Politiker im Deutschen Bundestag und in den Länderparlamenten zusammen, ist ein guter Innenpolitiker, — aber in den Wahlfächern Internationales Recht und Diplomatie ist er seiner „Kollegin“ Annalena Baerbock absolut ebenbürtig! —

Schade!

Das Ende der Fahnenstange ist erreicht: Die Bezahlschranke!

Liebe Leser,

1999 | Fünfundzwanzig Jahre Institut für Völkerrecht | 2024

Ein Vierteljahrhundert Völkerrecht — 1999 – 2024

An traditionsgeweilter Stätte, im Schatten des Batterieturmes auf dem Hof vor Schloß Burg mit der „Gedenkstätte des Deutschen Ostens – Mahnmal der Vertreibung in Europa“, versammelten sich heute die Direktoren des Institutes für Völkerrecht zu einer Feierstunde.

Wie schon bei der 15-Jahresfeier, die 2014 an der gleichen Stelle stattfand, sprach René Schneider, der Gründungs- und Generaldirektor der Schneider-Institute, über die Geschichte seiner Institute und über „Aktuelles Völkerrecht, damals und heute (1999 und 2024)“.

Vorwort

„Ach, was muß man oft von bösen
Kindern hören oder lesen!! [...]”
– Drum ist hier, was sie getrieben,
Abgemalt und aufgeschrieben.“²

Manchmal will man gar nicht alles glauben, was die „Qualitätsmedien“ berichten, heute zum Beispiel folgendes: „US-Präsident Donald Trump hat in einem Brief³ an Norwegens Ministerpräsident Jonas Gahr Støre seinen Anspruch auf Grönland bekräftigt und ihn direkt mit dem ausbleibenden Friedensnobelpreis verknüpft. Demnach schreibt Trump, Norwegen habe sich entschieden, ihm den Friedensnobelpreis nicht zu verleihen, obwohl er nach eigener Darstellung „mehrere Kriege beendet“ habe. Daher fühle er sich [...] „nicht mehr verpflichtet, ausschließlich an Frieden zu denken“. [...]

Norwegens Ministerpräsident Jonas Gahr Støre hat auf den Brief reagiert und einen zentralen Punkt klargestellt. [...], „dass nicht die norwegische Regierung, sondern ein unabhängiges Nobelkomitee über die Vergabe des Friedensnobelpreises entscheidet“.⁴

Und ein anderes „Qualitätsmedium“ sekundiert: „US-Präsident Donald Trump hat eine klare Aussage zu einem möglichen US Angriff auf Grönland verweigert. [...] Auf die Frage, ob er Gewalt anwenden würde, um die zu Dänemark gehörende Insel für die USA in Besitz zu nehmen, antwortete Trump nur: "Kein Kommentar.“ [...]

Zuletzt schrieb er in einem Brief an Norwegens Ministerpräsidenten Jonas Gahr Støre, er zweifle an Dänemarks Anspruch auf Grönland. Er behauptete darin fälschlicherweise, es gebe keine schriftlichen Dokumente darüber, "nur dass vor Hunderten von Jahren ein Boot dort gelandet ist – aber unsere Boote sind dort ebenfalls gelandet".“⁵

Sorry, Mr Trump, aber Dänemarks Anspruch auf Grönland ist schon 1933 verbindlich festgestellt worden.⁶ Und das damals gegen Dänemark klagende Königreich Norwegen hatte auch vorgetragen „dass vor Hunderten von Jahren ein Boot dort gelandet ist“.

Sie finden das alles in den Entscheidungsgründen des Urteils vom 5. April 1933 – StIGH, General List: No. 43, “Legal Status of Eastern Greenland” (siehe Fußnoten), und Sie können das in Ruhe nachlesen, inklusive der Dokumente, die damals von Dänemark und Norwegen dem Gerichtshof vorgelegt wurden. — Ich habe das auch schon getan.

DISSENTING OPINION BY M. VOGT.

[Translation.]

According to the Saga, Gunnbjörn Ulfsson, who left Norway for Iceland, about the year 900, was driven westwards by a storm. He saw a large country and some islands to the West and subsequently succeeded in reaching Iceland. Later, two inhabitants of Iceland set out to search for the islands seen by Gunnbjörn and, according to the Saga, they reached Greenland and passed the winter there.

Eirik Raude (Eric the Red) is, however, generally regarded as the discoverer of Greenland; he was born in Norway about 950 and left for Iceland about 970. About 980 he went to Greenland. He reached the habitable region on the South-West, spent three winters there and visited the West coast from Cape Farvel to a point far to the North. He it was who named the country “Greenland”.

Anders als die „Qualitäts-Medien“ bitten wir nicht um kleine Beträge, damit danach die Seite für den zahlenden Leser freigeschaltet wird, sondern um die Unterstützung durch Personen, Organisationen und Institutionen aller Art, die sich finanzielle Großzügigkeit problemlos erlauben können.

Die Internet-Seiten des Instituts für Völkerrecht bleiben dann für alle Leser permanent zugänglich, und neue Veröffentlichungen, Aktualität und Qualität werden garantiert.

Wer Interesse hat, dieses Projekt zu unterstützen, wird gebeten, sich per E-Mail zu melden. Danke!

StIGH, Urteil vom 5. April 1933 (General List: No. 43, "Legal Status of Eastern Greenland") und Beschuß vom 11. Mai 1933 (General List: Nos. 52 und 53, "Case Concerning the Legal Status of the South-Eastern Territory of Greenland"). — Wer sich für die historische Vorgeschichte des Rechtsstreites zwischen dem Königreich Norwegen auf der Klägerseite und dem Königreich Dänemark auf der Beklagtenseite interessiert, sollte unbedingt auch die Sondervoten der Richter Benjamin Vogt, Walther Schücking / Wang Chung-Hui und last not least Dionisio Anzelotti lesen.

Der Ständige Internationale Gerichtshof (StIGH) – engl.: PCIJ, fr.: CPJI – des Völkerbundes existierte von 1920 bis 1946 und war der Vorgänger des Internationalen Gerichtshofes (IGH) – engl.: ICJ, fr.: CIJ – der Vereinten Nationen; sein Sitz war, wie der seines Nachfolgers, im „Peace Palace“ in Den Haag.
